MONEY

Feta...Cheese...Skrilla...Bread...Yeah, we talkin' bout that money. One might debate if it matters how you get it. Some don't care as long as you have it. The man who has the money is the man who makes the rules, right? Money...It'll make her dance. It ruins old relationships and builds new ones. It'll weed out the loyal ones from the fakes. It fuels generations and destroy nations. The same thing that'll make you laugh will make you cry.

Koldashian

Photographer: Ice Box Studio @Mr_IceBoxStudio

For those just seeing you for the first time. What can you tell us about yourself? I am shy and outgoing at the same time. Once I get use to an environment, I'm the turn up queen. Ironically I do not drink or smoke and nobody that has encountered my vibe believes I am this much fun sober.

What sets you apart from other models? I am just trying to motivate young girls to do what they love and stay focused on reaching your goals. I have always wanted to model and I feel at 23 I'm finally on the right path.

Sometimes modeling comes with a lot of baggage. Do you feel that you've been misperceived? Yes, people often think that because you are "half naked" in a picture, you are easy to sleep with it. That is not true at all. I still stand behind my morals and will not let my career choices define who I am, Dolla Kold is my brand. Modeling is a form of art, and I am sensitive about my...well you know the rest.

What do you hope to accomplish in the next 5 years? I would like to be multi published and become a household name; I would like my work to become so lucrative to the point that I will be making money in my sleep.

In the perfect world things always go as planned on set, but what is the worst experience you've had so far? I think the worst thing that has happened to me was losing my only biological sibling. She passed giving birth to my nephew. She did not have any health issues it was very unexpected. I am still devastated behind the tragic event. I was in my senior year of college when this took place. Because of her, I still try to reach my goals and make my angel proud.

Have you/or would you ever consider mixing business with pleasure? No, I think the two should stay completely separate because I don't like being mad at work. Then being mad at home, it seems too messy.

If you were looking for a relationship what type of person would spark your interest? He would have to display respect, ambition, loyalty and honesty; those traits will carry you very far with me. When you have those characteristics, you will always be able to provide and work out problems you may have in a relationship. When someone loves you or really likes you, the way they talk about you is different. You feel safe and comfortable. If we are, dating and you make me feel safe you got my heart, because my trust is not easily earned.

What's the most important aspect of a relationship? Honesty, the worst thing you can do is lie to your partner and have them out here looking stupid. I believe that if two people are connected at the heart, and it doesn't matter what you do, or who you are or where you live; there are no boundaries or barriers if two people are destined to be together. But you have to be honest and understand everything is "figureoutable."

SOFIA VERGA

As one of Forbes' "Top 100 Power Women" in 2015, Sofia Vergara has proven herself as an unstoppable force in the entertainment industry. These days the Colombian stunner can be seen everywhere you turn: TV, movies, and commercials. Not only is the actress the top earning Latina actress on television, but she's also a wildly successful entrepreneur.

Early Career

Sofia Vergara may be one of the most powerful and beautiful celebrities internationally, but the actress had humble beginnings. Although she made her debut at 17 in a Pepsi commercial in her native Columbia, she did not find widespread success until later in life. Two decades after her premiere in the commercial, she has a new multi-million dollar spokesmodel contract with Pepsi to promote their Diet Pepsi line of drinks.

During her 20s, Vergara worked sporadically as a runway model and had an exclusive contract with Spanish television programmer Univision. In 1998, Vergara decided to move the majority of her family from Colombia to the United States after her beloved brother was murdered in a failed kidnapping attempt. In the early 2000s, she tried to break into American television by starring in several TV shows backed by the ABC network. Unfortunately, "Hot Properties" and "Knights of Prosperity" never found network success and were soon canceled after airing. Another setback would occur for the actress in 2000 when she was diagnosed with thyroid cancer. Vergara underwent surgery and has since made a full recovery.

A Modern Hit

In 2009, Sofia Vergara became an instant sensation as Gloria Pritchett on the ABC comedy "Modern Family." Her exotic beauty coupled with her willingness to take comedic risks made her a household name overnight. As the wife of Jay played by Ed O'Neill, she has eliminated the stereotype of hot trophy wife and has shown viewers that she's more than just a pretty face. Since her premiere on the show, she has received four consecutive Emmy nominations and four consecutive Golden Globe nods. The TV show brings attention to what it means to be a blended family in the United States and has won several Emmys and SAG awards for best TV comedy.

A Hot Pair

After breaking off engagement to longtime love Nick Loeb, Vergara and "True Blood" actor Joe Manganiello started a whirlwind romance. The megastars became engaged at the end of 2014 after dating a mere six months. Manganiello proposed to the bombshell with a mega-carat diamond ring who has never been shy about her love for all things sparkly. The actress does after all have her own life of jewelry through Kay Jewelers.

Pay Day

Sofia Vergara has used her star power to negotiate a contract that makes her the highest paid TV actress. In 2015, she made a whopping $28.5 million from both endorsements and an estimated $325,000 per episode pay rate for her role on "Modern Family." She is also one of the co-founders of Latin World Entertainment. The multi-million dollar empire is a Miami-based talent management firm that boasts clients such as Disney and Paramount.

Vergara's endorsement deals expand the market because of her universal appeal. She has lucrative contracts with CoverGirl, Head & Shoulders, and State Farm. She is also developing a line of clothing for big box retailer Kmart.

There is a little doubt that Sofia Vergara has the business savvy and beauty to stay successful in the industry for years to come. She has become a role model to Latina girls everywhere and has proven over and over again that she's not afraid to play hardball when it comes to earning a sweet paycheck.

The Secret World of the Cultural College Adventure

Most go to college, experience a dizzying adventure of sporting events, classes, parties and then go on to another life. However, there is so much more to the experience of a college campus than simply taking classes there. There is a microcosm of untapped culture.

Texas alone has 208 colleges and universities. California was home to 399, New York State has 307. This is diversity at it's best.

Often colleges have something between an Air BnB, a hostel and hotel which you can stay in luxury at a reduced rate. Salve Regina University in Newport, RI boasts owning several of the smaller Newport mansions which have rooms for visitors. This college backs up to the famed mansions and is within walking distance of the Newport Jazz Festival.

Colleges offer something to the non-student and more mature person that are often secret and surprising on a number of levels. Colleges can be a wonderful destination location. Often colleges have several cafes and eating establishments that are trendy, gourmet and reasonably priced. Sometimes great beauty and culture. Many have beautiful campuses that are pleasant walking areas with beautiful vistas. Often there is dance and music that is comfortably priced and world class in talent. There are classes at some of the centers that are not for credit but for the utter fascination of learning and can be a one-day class that expands your knowledge and gives you something interesting to do.

Although, we can't look in detail at all 208 colleges in Texas, and what they have to offer, let alone the variety of colleges when you travel, by highlighting a few you can start brainstorming how to create your own plans.

Your best bet to discovering your own college culture adventure is to look on the college's website and look at events, and what is on the campus.

The Lady Bird Johnson Wildflower Center in Austin, TX that is affiliated with the University of Texas in Austin. It has walking trails, an extensive horticulture library, special exhibitions of native plants and a conservation unit and seed banks. This can be a wonderful there's a college specialty like a local muffin, burger, pizza or drink concoction that cannot be found anywhere else.

Many colleges have art museums, culture centers and chapels that boast outdoor experience.

Another example is the University of St Thomas, which is just south of Houston. On the grounds, is the exceptional Menil collection, which is the largest, extensive private art collections with an extensive range of art, in the United States. There are approximately 17,000 paintings, prints, sculptures, photographs, drawings, and rare books. Another essential at the University of St Thomas is the exquisitely beautiful Rothko chapel. The campus is 1950s chic, and the vibe screams chill city living.

University of Texas at Huntsville is home to a 4-star restaurant in The Homestead.

Traveling around the country, there is the Fogg Museum, is the oldest of Harvard University's art museums, established in 1896, it holds substantial group of impressionist works that contain many famous masterpieces.

University of Chicago holds some unique events. The Scavenger Hunt, winter festival called "Kuviasungnerk/Kangeiko", which include early morning exercise workshops, and "Summer Breeze", a carnival and concert.

Columbia University in NYC boasts an annual musical written by students called the "Varsity Show", established in 1894, former students like Rodgers and Hammerstein once penning a production. You might see the next big Broadway name there.

The number of activities, kinds of art galleries, not to mention sports proliferates at colleges. Start your college adventure now.

For those just seeing you for the first time. What can you tell us about yourself? Hello Pressure Magazine Fans! I'm lusty, busty, sassy & classy! Haha! No really, I'm TanyaRenee from Dallas, TX & I am very excited to be featured in this wonderful issue!

What sets you apart from other models? My respect for the industry and the people who work in it. I have a real down to earth personality & I do not take myself too seriously.

Sometimes modeling comes with a lot of baggage. Do you feel that you've been misperceived? People think I'm a bitch or I have a short temper for no reason sometimes. Honestly, you REALLY have to push me to get me to that point & then it's over.

What do you hope to accomplish in the next 5 years? Lol! I never have an answer to this question. I just live in the moment. I do know that I am getting a bigger closet in the next 5 months though.

In the perfect world things always go as planned on set, but what's the worst experience you've had so far? I've never had one bc I only work w the best in the business.

Have you/or would you ever consider mixing business with pleasure? Consider it? Haha! I do it all the time.

If you were looking for a relationship what type of person would spark your interest? I don't have a specific type. I just know what I don't like.

What's the most important aspect of a relationship? Good hygiene & a sense of humor. You can't be stinky & stupid.

What is it about a (man or woman) that sexually stimulates you? Man. Again, good hygiene & a great sense of humor. Oh! & ambition.

What is your biggest fantasy when it comes to sex? All these sex questions... Well I've never had sex in space so there's that I guess, LOL!

What are the three most important things in your life? Family, financial stability, & footwear

If you could only choose one person, who is your inspiration and why? My mother, she really is the strongest person I know.

If you could change 3 things about yourself, what would it be? My patience level w idiots, my height, & my shoe size (I am an 8 & I wish I was a 6).

Before we go do you have any last words? Thank you so much for featuring me! It's been a struggle trying to get these pictures published this year so I truly appreciate Pressure Magazine for allowing me to become part of their team of beautiful ladies.

FITNESS

Men who are constantly exercising will always tell you how more powerful, fit and energetic they are. These reasons alone are not, however, enough to justify a proper exercise in men. Any man will always find these five reasons to exercise fascinating and motivating. The reasons include; staying strong for everyday life, keeping healthy bones, prevention of injuries, better looks and increased metabolism.

5 Reasons Why Exercise Is Essential For Men

Stay strong for everyday life

Studies show that men who don't exercise are likely to lose 30 to 40 percent strength by the age of 65 and 75. Constant exercise in men helps to stimulate their muscles thus making them remain stronger each day. The reverse is true, if you don't use your muscles, they will eventually waste away. By having a proper workout, most men are likely to at least double or triple their power of muscles

Keeping your bones healthy

Severe bone loss can easily result in a disease called osteoporosis. The number of casualties of this kind of diseases is on the increasing edge. This only means that several men are going to have weaker bones before their old age. This condition and diseases can, however, be avoided. The only secret lies in exercise. Walking, jogging and weight lifting are very essential for the growth of healthy bones. Sometimes some men go for supplements that boost the strength of their bones, well; this could also work as long as it is accompanied by regular exercise. These types of exercise have the ability to press our bones. The act of pressing our bones stimulates them and prevents them from wearing out.

Prevention of injuries

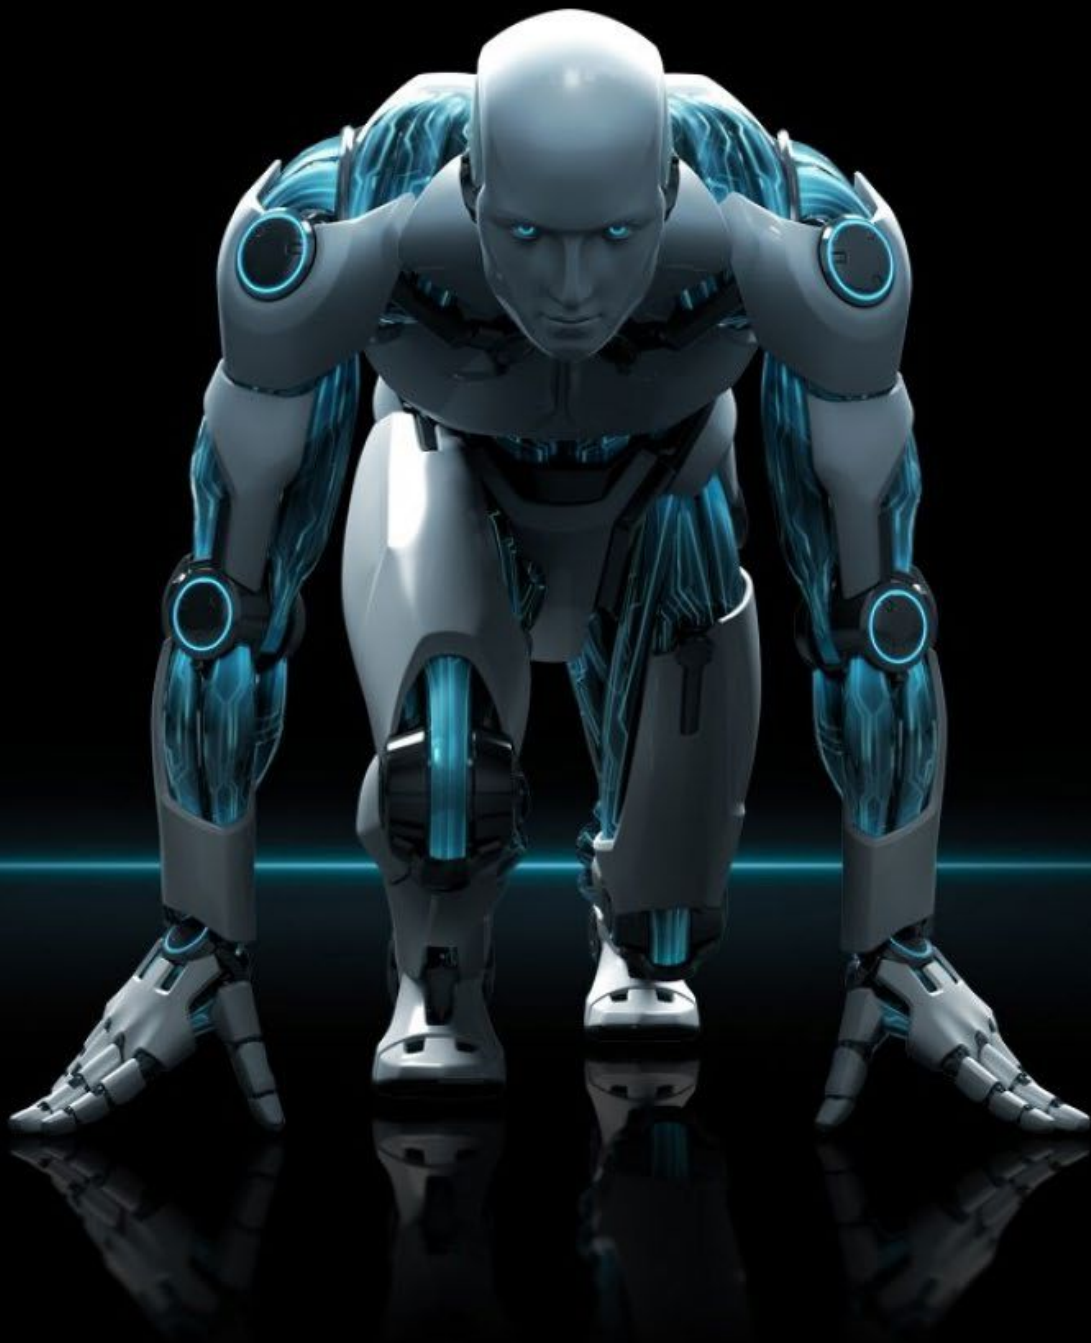

An exercise can increase the strength of the muscle in men. When your muscles are strong, it means that one is less injury prone. The other advantage of exercise regarding fewer injuries is that it increases the balance and surefootedness. Studies have shown that those who fall in their old age end up being admitted for bone injuries. To avoid this case exercise has been widely recommended.

Better looking

If you ask most men who are constantly visiting the gym, their major reason lies in the aspect of looking good. It is true; men who exercise have a better posture than those who don't. Weightlifting in men increases their chest muscles that are loved by everyone. Good arms and impressive abs are only obtained through a proper workout.

Speeding up metabolism

Human metabolism can be defined as the number of calories one is burning at any given time. Exercise has the effect of burning your metabolism thus reducing the number of calories in our system. Excess calories, on the other hand, have diverse negative effect in our bodies. However, there are positive impacts of increased metabolism are the increased rate of blood circulation in our bodies. Good circulation of blood can be very significant to men during sexual intercourse.

pressure

For those just seeing you for the first time. What can you tell us about yourself? What you see are not my best assets. I love modeling, being sexy, but caring for others is my joy.

What sets you apart from other models? I can only speak for myself but I go hard for everything that I have a passion for. Examples are putting my flexibility to the challenge posing, shooting in remote areas or stepping out of my comfort zone.

Sometimes modeling comes with a lot of baggage. Do you feel that you've been misperceived? I know modeling is a challenging career so I've already got my mind focused on staying positive and persevering.

What do you hope to accomplish in the next 5 years? My accomplishments will be having a household name and my other business passion of caring for others in a successful state.

In the perfect world things always go as planned on set, but what's the worst experience you've had so far? I haven't had any bad experiences so far and surely not trying to jinx myself either.

Have you/or would you ever consider mixing business with pleasure? No, there are so many things that can go wrong that can really mess up the flow of business.

If you were looking for a relationship what type of person would spark your interest? That person would be mature, tenacious, and honest

What's the most important aspect of a relationship? Trust, period!

What is it about a (man or woman) that sexually stimulates you? Intelligent conversation... It is a turn-on to be in the company of someone that I can learn from.

What is your biggest fantasy when it comes to sex? Girl on Girl...

What are the three most important things in your life? Beliefs, family, health

If you could change 3 things about yourself, what would it be? Don't have anything I would want to change about myself other than taking modeling serious when I was younger.

Before we go do you have any last words? I appreciate you, Pressure Magazine, for this opportunity, my photographer Alcole for catching all of my best angles and lastly thanks for all the love and support from my followers.

For those just seeing you for the first time. What can you tell us about yourself? I am not what just meets the eye. I am much more than that. I have a caring heart and a loving personality. I am not just a pretty face. I am not afraid to take risks and if it's something I want, I will go get it!

What sets you apart from other models? I know there is a lot of competition in the modeling industry, therefore I know that I have to work for what I deserve. I have to continue to push myself to make it to the top!

Sometimes modeling comes with a lot of baggage. Do you feel that you've been misperceived? Yes I do. Growing up I was a star athlete in the small town I was raised in. Everyone saw me as the "innocent girl". Now when they see my pictures they feel like I have lost respect for myself. Although some feel this way, I still have the morals I was raised with.

What do you hope to accomplish in the next 5 years? In the next 5 years I know I will have accomplished becoming a successful real estate agent since I am already working towards that goal. Then I plan on getting my Bachelors in Marketing and I am praying my modeling career takes off.

In the perfect world things always go as planned on set, but what's the worst experience you've had so far? Well, since I am new to this I have yet to have a bad experience.

Have you/or would you ever consider mixing business with pleasure? No, I would never. I don't want pleasure to ever interfere with my career. I would rather keep things professional.

If you were looking for a relationship what type of person would spark your interest? A strong minded individual that knows exactly what they want out of life and not afraid to go above and beyond. Definitely someone that's ambitious and self-motivated.

What's the most important aspect of a relationship? Trust and Communication are key to a successful relationship. Without those two traits the relationship will never grow.

What is it about a (man or woman) that sexually stimulates you? A man's smile, strong mind set, and humorous personality.

What is your biggest fantasy when it comes to sex? Role playing!! And tie me up and bring out the whip cream.

What are the three most important things in your life? God is number 1, then comes Family, and lastly Happiness. As long as I'm happy that's all that matters.

For those just seeing you for the first time. What can you tell us about yourself? I am currently living in Tampa, FL, been living here since I was in high school. I have been in this industry since I was 17 on & off. Now that I'm older I'm ready to take it more seriously. I'm definitely a hard worker. I am currently in school Part-time to become a Physical therapist and I also work Full-time.

What sets you apart from other models? What sets me apart is my look and my work ethic. I'm biracial so that gives me a real exotic look & it kinda sets me apart from other models. People are intrigued when they can't immediately pinpoint your ethnicity. Also I'm not afraid to work & try new opportunities. I do my research & do my best, if it doesn't work out then I know I tried & know what to do to make the next time better.

In the perfect world things always go as planned on set, but what's the worst experience you've had so far? For me my time is very valuable. The worst experience I've had so far is, which really isn't bad but more of a lesson learned was working with a photographer shooting basically half the day going to different locations (TF Shoot) and getting one or two pictures back. Now I'm smarter and when they make me sign my Model Release I have one for them to sign too so it makes the shoot worthwhile for the both of us.

Have you/or would you ever consider mixing business with pleasure? I have not mixed business with pleasure and now being older I know to NEVER mix business with pleasure because I've seen it end badly. I have been tempted a couple time but I wouldn't like to ruin any future opportunities.

If you were looking for a relationship what type of person would spark your interest? The type of person that sparks my interest is someone who is goal oriented. I look for a partner when I'm looking for a relationship. I want you to be on my level or above, I don't want someone that would be dragging me down or someone that's not willing to help push & guide me to bettering myself. I definitely like a guy that I can learn from.

What's the most important aspect of a relationship? The most important aspect of a relationship for me is communication. I had to learn that communication is key to any relationship & I feel like some people now a days are so scared to tell the other how they feel.

What is it about a (man or woman) that sexually stimulates you? Turn on's is having your own, I love a successful man. Also being able to hold a conversation is very sexy to me & shows me confidence which is another turn on. Most important turn on is when he acts like he's all about me...I'm spoiled. So that stimulates me.

What is your biggest fantasy when it comes to sex? One of my biggest fantasy's that almost happened was having sex at a football game in a suite with the windows open...almost happened with my ex but I left before I saw the text lol.

What are the three most important things in your life? God, My son, & family

For those just seeing you for the first time. What can you tell us about yourself? I'm a proud mom. Traveling Stripper and I'm a real Virgo at heart. Love to love, very outgoing, adventurous and risk taking is a must. Follow rules not likely

What sets you apart from other models? What sets me apart is my willing to be different doing what's not considered the norm owning it and fucken loving it. I like and will try what others may not. I have a passion for trying to save our kids from the many obstacles and hardships that may come their way they are our future and get ignored tremendously

Sometimes modeling comes with a lot of baggage. Do you feel that you've been misperceived? I feel misperceived often just being a stripper and model. I'm ridiculed all the time about how I should be ashamed haha lol it makes me wanna strive harder n put forth more effort to make what I do more heard of and accepted. I take it as a challenge it doesn't and will never hinder anything in my life

What do you hope to accomplish in the next 5 years.? Within the next 5 years I plan to have a non-profit support group for the children who have been sexually assaulted or abused in any type of way Being sexually assaulted as a child makes children scary shy and feel as if they are not beautiful. I know this personally so my goal is to have those children's confidence higher than the sky and what better way to show that you can't be stopped?? Making it!! So just like I've turned my negative into a positive I'm gonna show them it's not about what u been thru it's about what you do to get thru it and guess what how can you help the next walk thru just like u It's bigger than what u ever imagined EACH ONE TEACH ONE .

In the perfect world things always go as planned on set, but what's the worst experience you've had so far? Worst experience was when I had to realize nobody is your friend nobody gives a fuck about you it's all about the money feelings who cares what's right or wrong who cares money is the mission money is the motive shaking my head. I had a rude awakening I thought I had found true love and I was so happy that I shared it with the people around me who all turned out to be some bitch ass snakes with no morals and no values but at the end of the day like a boss ass bitch is supposed to I get over it. I got better friends Who are loyal to this day and I feel as if I am in love again and it's real so again I scream to you remain loyal in a world filled with snakes

What's the most important aspect of a relationship? The most important aspect of a relationship is honesty, trust, and most important loyalty with those attributes I see a power couple.

What are the three most important things in your life? The three most important things in my life would have to be getting closer with the higher power (GOD) My family (kids my man) and friends and last but not least my money

Kitty Shine

For those just seeing you for the first time. What can you tell us about yourself? I'm based in ATL, I've been featured in several magazines, like Blackmen and Urban Ink, and videos and even though I've been going at this a minute I keep moving forward trying to create an empire!

What sets you apart from other models? That modeling is not my end game. It's just a small part of me building the Kitty Shine brand to go on to bigger and better things. So many girls have a goal of getting into a magazine and then if they do they have no idea what to do next. I'm a business woman first.

Sometimes modeling comes with a lot of baggage. Do you feel that you've been misunderstood in anyway? I can say I'm not one of those models who is all out there to have rumors floating around. I have a good time with my close friends but I'm mostly about business.

In the perfect world things always go as planned on set, but what's the worst experience you've had so far? I carry myself in a way that demands respect so I can say I really haven't had a "worst" experience. Of course there's always ONE that will try you but nothing I can't shut down.

If you were looking for a relationship what type of person would spark your interest? Someone that is doing and not just talking and can have a conversation that doesn't start with "Damn baby, that ASS..." or "I'd like to do this or that to you!"

What's the most important aspect of a relationship? Trust

For those interested in getting close to you. What are your turn on's and turn off's? That's hard to answer because there really isn't just one thing either way. It's the whole package. How do you make me feel? What do you bring to the table? Money doesn't win me over.

Nobody is perfect, but what's the one thing that would stop you from dating someone? Same answer. Every situation is different.

What feature on your body do people compliment the most? Of course my ass, but I get compliments on my face too which actually means more to me. Saying I have pretty eyes or smile will get you a lot farther than anything else.

What are the three most important things in your life? Family, Friends, God.

If you could only choose one person, who is your inspiration and why? Oprah, not because she's rich but because everything she touches becomes successful.

If you could change 3 things about yourself, what would it be? I don't know about 3 things. But I'd love to know what I know now when I was 17.

For those just seeing you for the first time. What can you tell us about yourself? I'm a pretty down to earth chick that can blend with almost any crowd and I have a lot of goals to accomplish in life. Aside from that I love letting my hair down and having fun but there's so many sides to me that most people don't get to see. I'm like the quit, goofy, shy, outgoing, artistic type if that makes any sense lol I'm also probably the most girly girl you'll ever meet.

What sets you apart from other models? My work ethic! I don't think most people understand having a pretty face is only half of what it takes. Modeling now days is all about how naked you can be, I'm comfortable in my body and don't mind those type of shoots. I want to take it back to when modeling was artistic and took talent.

What do you hope to accomplish in the next 5 years? In the next 5 years I hope for not only my modeling but acting career to have really taken off and to finally have my women's clothing line.

In the perfect world things always go as planned on set, but what's the worst experience you've had so far? I would have to say meeting with those who don't live up to their word, con-artist, liars like I'm sure most models have.

Have you/or would you ever consider mixing business with pleasure? I try not to mix business with pleasure however, you never know where you might find love.

If you was looking for a relationship what type of person would spark your interest? Someone who's tall and handsome of course lol but also caring and supportive with a career of his own. Preferably book and street smart with a mellow attitude. And he has to be able to make me laugh or there's no way his good looks will keep my attention.

What's the most important aspect of a relationship? Trust, there's no such thing as a perfect relationship but as long as there is trust and respect you can work through anything.

For those interested in getting close to you. What is your turn on's and turn off's? You being you and letting things happen naturally turns me on. Liars and pretending to be someone Nobody is perfect, but what's the one thing that would stop you from dating someone? Someone who repetitively does the same thing never learning from the mistake.

What feature on your body do people compliment the most? My lips and legs.

If you could only choose one person, who is your inspiration and why? Definitely my mom. The only person I know personally who overcomes everything thrown at her if there isn't a way she'll make one and no matter how hard it is she makes it look easy.

Halo 5: Guardians

Halo 5 pulls out all the stops with its new cooperative gameplay. It features requisition systems, a 4-player campaign mode, and large-scale multiplayer maps. The Master Chief saga unfolds as Agent Locke searches for him after the Blue Team disappears.

Campaign

Campaign mode switches between two teams, Lock's Fireteam Osiris and the Blue Team.

When in single player mode, you can choose to play as the Master Chief or Agent Locke. Your other players are AI's (artificial intelligent soldiers) that bow to your every command. They will follow you and support you as you go through the campaign. Use the D-pad to give commands to the AI's with requests like Go To Location, Revive A Teammate, or Pick Up Weapon. If a team member becomes damaged due to a fight, then either you or an AI player can revive them. If you wait too long to give the command, the teammate will die. But death is not permanent they will respawn.

In the cooperative gameplay, you can have up to 4 players on your team. Each player carries his or her own personalized equipment, for example Linda controls a Sniper Rifle and Master Chief holds on to his Assault Rifle. Even though the characters have their own signature equipment, they can add and use other weapon that they acquire throughout the game.

The campaign features a large open space forum to linger and explore. Missions are variable. Which means you can take an alternate route or location during the gameplay. If you have access to the Artemis Tracking System, you will be able to find the highlighted routes. Climb or destroy walls to access possible hidden passageways.

Multiplayer Mode

There are two distinctive gameplays in multiplayer mode. The first is Arena. Arena is a 4-vs-4 battle competition and with all players starting out with the same equipment and abilities. This is to promote an even playing field. In order to power-up, you have to maintain control of the map throughout the duration of the match. Halo 5 also has Competitive Skills Rating (CRS), for those of you who don't want to play with noobs. CRS was created so highly skilled players can battle others with similar skills. To qualify, you have to play 10 matches and then you are placed in one of 7 ranks. Bronze, Silver, Gold, Platinum, Diamond, Onyx, and Champion are the rankings from least experienced to mind blowing skilled soldiers.

The Arena multiplayer mode contains 3 types of gameplays:

- Breakout – Live until the last round and you win. There are 5 rounds. Even though your armor and shields are not as potent on this map, you'll have to use your instincts to fight your enemies.
- Slayer – Kill as many players on the other side as possible within the time allotted.
- Strongholds – Score 100 points and you have won. But you have to have control of at least 2 zones to start scoring.
- Capture the Flag – Capture the other teams' flag and bring it home. Enough said!

The second multiplayer mode is Warzone. This new mode allows 24 players to fight on new dynamic maps. Two teams of twelve battle against one another. First team to 1,000 wins. Points can be gained by killing enemy minions, bosses, and overthrowing the other team's base or abolishing their core.

REQ System

The REQ system (requisition system) is a brand-new addition to the Halo series. Rewards are given to players during the multiplayer game modes. You can receive points after each Warzone or Arena session. These REQ Points can be used to buy REQ Packs or other necessary items. Use these rewards to unlock armor, weapons, vehicles, and other valuable in-game objects.

For those just seeing you for the first time. What can you tell us about yourself? Well for those just seeing me for the first time, I am young and very ambitious to say the least. I juggle being a student, model, and entrepreneur all at the same time. Therapist by day and model by night. I also enjoy traveling in my free time.

What sets you apart from other models? My look is extremely versatile and my work ethic. I hustle hard..whatever I put my mind to, I believe I can do. Not only am I a successful model, but a college student with a 3.8 GPA. Beauty & brains!!!!

Sometimes modeling comes with a lot of baggage. Do you feel that you've been misperceived? Yes. People often believe that because I enjoy modeling that I am exempt or not entitled to having a spiritual life which is totally untrue.

What do you hope to accomplish in the next 5 years? When I first began modeling, my ultimate goal is I hope to change the perception of black models in the eyes of the industry. In addition, I want to make a name for myself by being featured in major publications as far as modeling is concerned. I also hope to have earned my doctorate degree and having a flourishing business.

In the perfect world things always go as planned on set, but what's the worst experience you've had so far? The worst thing I've experienced is planning my life based on temporary relationships. It puts you in a position where you are left with broken pieces that you have no choice but to rebuild on your own. When you take 10 steps forward and 20 back..that's an uncompromising position.

Have you/or would you ever consider mixing business with pleasure? Yes! lol. I definitely have found some of my affiliates very attractive and considered giving it a try.

If you were looking for a relationship what type of person would spark your interest? The perfect guy for me would be one who possesses all the qualities of a real MAN meaning impeccable hygiene, one who KNOWS chivalry isn't dead, is romantic and is passionate about his spirituality. Also, I could pass on the control issues. That's a deal breaker for me.

What's the most important aspect of a relationship? The most important aspect of a relationship to me is loyalty. I just need someone who can keep it real with me no matter the circumstances. I have zero tolerance for liars.

What is it about a (man or woman) that sexually stimulates you? I love to be in control, if the person allows me to pleasure them..it gives me ULTIMATE stimulation.

What are the three most important things in your life? God, my mother, and my career

Generous paychecks, huge sponsorship and merchandising opportunities are now pervasive in the world of sports. This is a list of maximum earners from various sports in 2015. The top five richest list includes two soccer stars, (one relatively unknown), two boxers, and a tennis player.

The Five Highest-Paid Athletes of 2015

1. Floyd Mayweather-$400 million.

Floyd Mayweather is an American boxing champion, known all over the globe. He has a net worth of $400 million. Floyd is easily the highest paid athlete on the globe. Floyd Mayweather's net worth must be some sort of crazy since the boxer admits he is spending

Las Vegas bets and odds have already been released for the upcoming Floyd Mayweather vs. Manny Pacquiao fight.

His oft-rumored battle between Mayweather and Pacquiao finally took place on May 2nd 2015 in Las Vegas. It is expected to be the highest revenue-generating fight in boxing history. Floyd and Manny agreed to split all profits 60-40. As of this writing, Floyd is projected to earn as much as $200 million off the fight.

2. Manny Pacquiao- $160 million

Despite coming up short in what was billed the Fight of the Century, Manny Pacquiao cashed in on his mega-fight with Floyd Mayweather Jr.

He also brought in 12 million in endorsements from companies like Nike, Footlocker. He is not only one of the richest athletes on the planet; he's probably one of the most popular.

As for the future, the names keep coming for Manny Pacquiao's final foe rumor has it that that Amir Khan might face Manny Pacquiao in April or could WBA junior welterweight Adrien Broner be his next foe?

3. Cristiano Ronaldo-$ 80 million

Cristiano Ronaldo is not only is he one of the richest athletes on the planet, he's probably one of the all-time favorites. He raked in slightly more than $52.6 million this past year and another $27 million in endorsements.

Here are just a few of Cristiano Ronaldo's his honors and awards:

- HS Trophy for Best striker on the planet
- Globe Soccer Best Player of the Year award
- BBC Overseas Sports Personality award
- UEFA Best Player in Euro

- Globe Soccer Best Player of the Year award
- UEFA Super Cup
- Named FIFA's best player in the world.

About a third of Cristiano Ronaldo's salary is derived from endorsements.

4. Lionel Messi – $73.8 million

Lionel Messi, a native of Argentina, has established records for goals scored and won individual awards en route to worldwide recognition as the best all time soccer player. He led Barcelona to Super Cup championships in 2010 and 2011, as well as the '11 Champions League title.

In 2012, Messi became the first player to score five goals in a Champions League match. A few weeks later he surpassed Cesar Rodriguez's club-record- 232 goals to become Barcelona's all-time leading scorer.

Messi led team Argentina to the finals of the 2014 World Cup and he was named best player of the tournament.

Although several of the richest athletes earned most of their salary in endorsements, this is not true of Messi. He was paid more by his sport than he earns in endorsements; $51.8 million for play while earning $22 million from sponsors

5. Roger Federer--$67 million.

Roger Federer is ranked # 2 in the ATP Men's league. Roger will compete in the 2016 Olympics with Martina Hingis. This is an ideal team. In tandem, the two players have a very impressive record.

This past season has been chaotic, but Roger still keeps up with his social responsibilities. He is personally involved in various projects that support children and families. He has been named the Arthur Ashe Humanitarian of the Year several times for his involvement as an advocate for children in hardship situations.

Most of Roger Federer's $67 million can be attributed to the $58 million he earned in endorsements from Rolex, Nike and Credit Suisse.

For those just seeing you for the first time. What can you tell us about yourself? I'm 100% self motivated, I don't believe in free success, my body is a work of art.

What sets you apart from other models? My passion for this. I've had a million obstacles and never once took the short cut.

Sometimes modeling comes with a lot of baggage. Do you feel that you've been misperceived? Absolutely

What do you hope to accomplish in the next 5 years? Capitalization of self

In the perfect world things always go as planned on set, but what's the worst experience you've had so far? Showing up to what I thought was a photo shoot but was actually a radio interview being filmed. Not being prepared really pissed me off, never worked with them again.

Have you/or would you ever consider mixing business with pleasure? I've never considered it BUT I haven't met anyone I was interested in entertaining.

If you was looking for a relationship what type of person would spark your interest? Someone who is persistent and who's ready to cater. Someone who LISTENS

What's the most important aspect of a relationship? Honesty

Which do you prefer, giving or receiving? I'm a giver

Truth being told women think about sex just as much as men. What's your favorite position? I like to Please so whatever he wants

For those interested in getting close to you. What is your turn on's and turn off's? I love a romantic, arrogance is huge turn off

Nobody is perfect, but what's the one thing that would stop you from dating someone? Someone who puts me on a pedestal, I'm tall enough lol

What feature on your body do people compliment the most? My eyes

What are the three most important things in your life? Family, work, friends

If you could only choose one person, who is your inspiration and why? No one in particular.. I feed off of other successful women. No hate

If you could change 3 things about yourself, what would it be? My height, how I spend my time and my love life

Before we go do you have any last words? Love yourself

PAN

Before he became the legend, Peter (Levi Miller) was a 12 year old orphan who lived in an abusive orphanage, until his life was changed when he was abducted by a flying pirate ship and taken to Neverland; ruled ruthlessly by the pirate lord Blackbeard (Hugh Jackman). After learning his arrival was prophesized by Blackbeard as the one who would ultimately kill him, Pan flees with the help of James Hook (Garrett Hedlund) and seeks out the tribal princess Tiger Lily (Rooney Mara). Now Pan must face his destiny as a legend in training and discover the truth about his past and ultimately; his future as the one and only Peter Pan. One thing I'm grateful for is the decision to take this film in a more adventurous, family fun kind of tone rather than making it a dark and gritty reboot that everyone else seems to be using these days. "Pan" is all about fantasy adventure; it's like "Harry Potter" with "Pirates of the Caribbean" mixed into it.

The story gives us different new takes on popular characters we've known for years, we know how they're supposed to end up and turn out but we've never seen the likes of Pan and Hook in a way "Pan" portrays them. It's like were REALLY meeting these legends for the first time. Pan is given a sort of messiah plot device and it does admittedly run into a few cliché potholes as viewing the character as a legendary savior doesn't allow him to develop or come off as anyone else other than what we already know he will become. Still, I like the idea of seeing Peter being a scared, unsure; even sometimes selfish person who is willing to jump into death's jaws as long as he finds out about his family and caring little about who he is supposed to be. It also gives his flying powers a sense of purpose and meaningfulness; we get an idea of why he has them and how it fits into Neverland and even why he was in "our world" in the first place.

"Pan" has a style all its own; all the pirates have distinct costumes and designs, the tribesmen have a specific way in which they move, jump and fight, even the gun powder the pirates use is mixed with bright colors. Levi Miller was a great and fitting choice for Pan, kid actors usually suck something fierce and you can't really fault them BECAUSE they're kids; but I actually liked this Pan, I wanted to see how he'd take this turn or how he'd react to this and that. Jackman is damn near unrecognizable as Blackbeard, his performance is leaps and bounds louder and livelier than everyone else; but that doesn't make him any less impressive or his performance any less commendable as this pirate villain. Speaking of pirate villains, Hedlund as James Hook was quite a character. He's completely different than any Hook we've ever seen and when you see him, you find it impossible this could be the same Hook...and I like that.

The film wisely sneaks in fun little references here and there, most of which are subtle and well handled, while others are clearly left unresolved until a hopeful sequel is greenlit. Sadly based on the film's box office return, it seems unlikely one will ever come up and it's a shame because I genuinely liked these characters enough to want to see HOW they end up becoming enemies and handless. I can't say the film was too ambitious with its inklings towards a planned trilogy, it wasn't too wrapped up in planting Easter eggs to the point they sacrificed their characters and story (unlike "Amazing Spider-man 2"). While this movie is fun, well cast and rich with entertaining values, it's not so great that it truly warrants its overly expensive price tag; at least if we were judging a film's quality by its budget...which I'm not. The only problem "Pan" suffers from is it relies too much on its target audience and hopeful "Peter Pan fans" interest in a revival to do most of the lifting work to carry this film into the mega profit margins.

The fun is there, the casting is there (minus an unfortunately white washed Tiger Lily) and the potential and groundwork is all there; ready and willing to show us how these characters eventually become the legendary enemies and icons of their famous fabled story. The interest however isn't there and is nowhere near sufficient enough to bring a sequel onboard, which is a shame because I enjoyed this enough that I want more "Pan" and genuinely think the story they had been preparing in the sequel would have been worth the budget. Overall, "Pan" is a revival/origin story that came out at the wrong time; foolishly assuming this was the right time. It sets its heights too high and a price tag just as painfully out of reach. However, I think the cast did a much better job than I expected; I care about these characters and I really do care enough to see where this journey could have gone to had they been able to continue. It's a straight up, fun, fantasy adventure film that really could have used a bit more happy thoughts lifting it up; besides my own.
